

Growth Spurt

by Steve Eginore

Well folks, it's that time of year again. Spring is here, and if there's one thing Durangoans get buzzed about it's home gardening. What could be more satisfying than one-upping your friends and family with a voluptuous plot teeming with an assortment of rare heirlooms and wildflowers? Whether, gardening big or small, fancy or plain, the fulfillment of growing is hard to deny. Here's a look around town as folks prep for the season.

Jeanne Pastore waters yarrow starters at Native Roots.

Hadi Englert discovers the joy of composting with worms.

Chlorophyll: Always a refreshing sight after a long winter.

Tim Wheeler of Durango Compost Company shows a handful of worm castings.

A mixed bag of spring greens are a perfect way to kick off the growing season.
