

Mein Stein!

by Jennaye Derge

While Munich, Germany, has been celebrating Oktoberfest for 181 years, Durango has only been on the universally celebrated Oktoberfest bandwagon for 10 years. But, that's still long enough for some Durangoans to view it as an engraved tradition. This year, tradition lived on with flowing seasonal beers, family friendly events, oompah music, tubed meat, lederhosen and more. Thank you, Munich, for all these things that Durango can celebrate for years to come.

Wait, what's going on?

No fall festival is complete without apple bobbing for the kids

Tracy Campbell helps drum up business for the La Plata County Humane Society at its "kissing" booth.

Prost!

Oktoberfest attire includes lederhosen, dirndls and occasional flip flops.

A successful hot-dog eating contest where what went in, stayed in.