

Roll 'em

by Jennaye Derge

Tear-jerkers, eye-openers, heart-stoppers and belly-laughers were all in supply at this year's annual Durango Independent Film Festival. The 10th annual, this year's fest filled five days which films, panel discussions and late-night soirées.

Whether accompanied by a friend, a tub of popcorn, or just themselves, viewers were sure to emerge back into daylight having run the gamut of emotions, leaving no tissue uncrumpled and no mind unenlightened.

The projector reflects in the window of the control room at the Gaslight.

What's a movie without the buttery, salty corn?

You shall pass!

For those of strong thirst and bladder.

Volunteers pass out tickets at the Gaslight.